CALL FOR SPEAKERS

YOURS 2023 conference supports young researchers up to 35 years of age and their results in the broadest sense by highlighting the presentation of new trends and research and promoting innovative practices that advance academic achievements.

Organised by

Inovacioni centar

Mašinskog fakulteta u Beogradu

JAES
Journal of Applied Engineering Science

Ministry of science,
technological development
and inovation

Supported by

This year's conference topics are dedicated to methods, policies, and technologies in the technical sciences, materials, energy, energy efficiency, environment, industrial engineering, traffic and transportation, civil engineering, quality management, and other related sciences, with a special focus on artificial intelligence, machine learning, energy management, biosystem information technology, robotics, and other innovative trends.

YOURS 2023 promotes the presentation of new trends, advances, and research in all mentioned areas, bringing together prosperous researchers with leading professionals, academicians, universities, and industry experts from around the region.
